MIDWAYS AT COUNTY FAIRS

🖰 (Savannah News.) 🚊 🗥 County fairs in Georgia hereafter should climinate the "midway! as a feature. It may be that it does help the attendance, but it is not a high order of entertainment, is of no educational value, lessens the attentions paid to things more worth while, and takes money out of the state that should be kept in it. This refers to the sort of midway that too frequently is some at county fairs, and that makes an appeal not to the finer malities of men and women, but to the baser ones. The fair ought to be so clean and so good that everything in it might be viewed with perfect propriety by men, women and children.

Especially should it be made interesting for children, for every effort that is made to improve farming methods, to make farm life more attractive, mould take them into account, because in a few years they will be the farm men and farm women of Goorgin. If there were nothing that could take the place of the more objectionable midway shows there might be less objection to them, but when movlug pictures can be used to combine cutertainment and instruction why not substitute them for the money-taking, objectionable. unpleasant tent shows?

If the county fairs in Georgia have to depend on midways, they do not make a success—it is my the midways that are sucseful. Any county, if it tries. have a successful fair in select to attendance, exhibits? wing power and good results. wille limiting its attractions to o that are wholesome.

FAIR SUGGESTIONS

Editor Dothan Engles

I agree with your recent ed itorial in regard to the fair next year. We had a much better fair this year than last and it ery year. If we do this we must keep constantly in mind the prime jobject to be accomplish ed; the promoting and develop want the various attractions, we drill all like to see them, the horse plate flights still more set erowds and create interest, but it should be so next year that the twenty or thirty thousand fartriers who come here to the fair should go back home impressed,-not with horse racing or the Fat Lady, or the Thin man, or the Trained Bird, or the Sanke Enting Man, but with an object lesson of new and better farming in their minds. To de this the secretary of the fair should spend most of his time between Jamuary and October in the rural sections of southeast Alabams, talking with the far mers, creating interest. working up verlom exhibits for
